

“The Law of Attraction Report”

Perhaps, you have seen or read about The Secret or you might have read about “The Law of Attraction”.

I have been using the law of attraction in my life for as long as I remember, but for the longest time I didn't know how it worked and why it worked.

I knew I was dealing with an incredible power. But where was the source of this power? How could I trigger it?

Being a scientist, being Quantum Physicist, I had to find out.

I knew if I found out how it worked and why it worked, I could make it more effective.

So I did a lot of research from two angles; from the scientific angle and the historical angle.

What does science have to say about the Law of Attraction?

What do different cultures, religions, and theosophies have in common, when it comes to the Law of Attraction?

They use different languages to describe the Law of Attraction, but at the core, I saw great commonalities.

You can see that commonality in a system that I call the Trinity System.

But, if I had to mention only one concept that the law of attraction revolves around, that would be the concept of reality.

Being a Quantum Physicist, I was always exposed to the fact that the reality is not solid and set in stone.

In fact, you can see in real life Quantum experiments that “You get from universe, what you ask for”. I explain that in detail when I talk about how Quantum Physics relates to the Law of Attraction.

But, to reach a broader audience let me use an analogy.

You see, the world that our senses register every second is so huge, that our conscious mind cannot handle it all at once

So our mind has no choice but to filter out most of the reality that the world out there has to offer and let only a tiny fraction of it in to be perceived by us.

I often use this analogy...

... Imagine that it's pitch dark at night and you are driving your car on a road out there in the country.

Of course, you are using your headlights to see the road.

But your headlights can help you see the road only few yards ahead of you.

They help you see the signs and places near and by the roadside.

That's like what your conscious mind can see and perceive from the world out there.

You may naturally think that these places and resources are all there is out there.

After all, that's all your headlights, your conscious mind, can show you on the road.

Now, imagine that suddenly that the sun comes up and you see everything in bright day light.

Now, you suddenly see that there are so many other roads nearby, with so many other places and resources on their roadsides.

You see things that were completely hidden from you, not because they weren't there. But because your headlights could only help you see things near you, and not the whole reality.

Perhaps, you've heard about the whole invisible world, a greater world that mystics talk about; A world that can be seen through the third eye, or the mind's eye, only.

Hmmm ..., sounds familiar?

That small part of the road and the roadside that your headlights can show you is YOUR reality.

Now imagine when you were driving at night, some how you learned how to switch roads. Suddenly your reality would change. As if now the world is completely different. As if the Universe has changed around you.

That is basically what you will experience when you learn how to effectively apply the Law of Attraction.

So the bottom line of the Secret is that the reality is subjective. We can change it; we can shape it, like we can switch roads.

So, what is the law of attraction?

In the road-at-night analogy, those different roads were basically like different filters that we all carry around with us to filter the reality and perceive only a tiny fraction of it.

And just to give you a glimpse of the magnitude of this filtering, the ratio is about 1 in 100 million!

We filter the reality of the world out there and perceive only 1 part out of 100 million that the universe has to offer.

Now, imagine if someone else, or you, when you master the manifestation process, grabbed a different part of that 100 million, he would be living in a whole different universe, wouldn't he?

Yes, When you switch roads, when you change filters, that's when the reality changes.

But here's the catch, which brings us back to the law of attraction.

Those filters only let similar reality to pass through and become your reality.

Just to give you an analogy, if you wanted to see blue, you'd have to wear blue shades to filter all colors but blue, right? If you wanted to see green, you'd have to see through green filters.

That's the essence of the Law of Attraction.

... But how can you effectively apply the Law of Attraction and achieve this reality change?

Keep on reading my e-letters and reports that I send you, where I explain more in detail about the law of attraction.

...And for those of you who are ready to begin to apply the Secret today, I invite you to read my ebook called "The Secret Behind The Secret".

In my book I break down the manifestation process into detailed steps, and share with you the secrets to attracting what you desire – quickly & easily.
